Eligibility may depend on:

- Product
- Category
- Seller
- Location
- Order amount
- Payment method

- Campaign period

- Other applicable conditions

==========

Customers should review whether the minimum value applies to:

- Product subtotal

- Eligible products only

- Total order

- Other applicable amount

The exact promotional terms determine the requirement.

==========

12. MAXIMUM DISCOUNT

==========

Some percentage-based promotions may have a maximum discount amount.

For example, a promotion may offer a percentage discount up to a specified maximum value.

The maximum discount condition should be considered when calculating the expected savings.

==========

13. PRODUCT RESTRICTIONS

==========

A promotion may apply only to selected products.

Some products may be excluded from a campaign.

Customers should not assume that every product qualifies for a general promotion.

==========

14. CATEGORY RESTRICTIONS

==========

A promotion may apply only to a particular category or group of categories.

Examples may include:

- Electronics
- Fashion
- Home products
- Beauty products
- Accessories
- Other applicable categories

The current promotion terms determine eligible categories.

==========

Marketplace promotions may apply only to products offered by selected sellers.

A customer should check the applicable seller conditions before assuming that a promotion applies to every product.

Two similar products from different sellers may have different promotion eligibility.

==========

16. LOCATION RESTRICTIONS

==========

Some promotions may be limited to certain delivery locations.

Location-based restrictions may affect:

- Product eligibility
- Delivery promotions
- Free-delivery offers

The customer's delivery location may therefore affect promotion eligibility.

==========

==========

- Bank-related payment method

A first-order promotion may be available to eligible customers making their first qualifying purchase.

Conditions may include:

- New customer eligibility
- Minimum order value
- Selected products

- Expiration date

- One-time usage

- Other applicable conditions

A customer should not assume that every newly created account qualifies.

==========

19. REFERRAL PROMOTIONS

refers another customer under the applicable referral terms.

Referral promotions may include conditions relating to:

- Referrer eligibility

- Referred customer eligibility

- First qualifying purchase

- Minimum order value

- Promotion period

- Usage limits

==========

20. FREE-DELIVERY PROMOTIONS

A promotion may provide free delivery for eligible orders.

Free delivery may be subject to:

- Minimum order value

- Location

- Product

- Seller

- Delivery method

- Promotion period

- Other applicable conditions

Free delivery should not be assumed unless the order qualifies.

==========

21. REDUCED DELIVERY PROMOTIONS

==========

Some promotions may reduce delivery charges rather than eliminate them completely.

Customers should review the final checkout amount to confirm the applied delivery benefit.

==========

22. BUNDLE OFFERS

==========

A bundle promotion may provide a benefit when customers purchase specified products together.

Bundle requirements may include:

- Required products

- Required quantities

- Eligible variants

- Campaign period

- Seller restrictions

Customers should review the bundle conditions before ordering.

==========

23. BUY-ONE-GET-ONE OFFERS

==========

A buy-one-get-one or similar quantity promotion may provide an additional product or discount when the customer purchases the required quantity.

The offer may have restrictions regarding:

- Product

- Variant

- Quantity

- Seller

- Promotion period

- Customer eligibility

==========

24. QUANTITY-BASED PROMOTIONS

==========

Some promotions may provide discounts when customers purchase multiple eligible units.

For example:

- Buy two and receive a discount
- Buy three and receive a larger discount
- Purchase a specified quantity to qualify

The exact promotion conditions determine the applicable benefit.

==========

25. LIMITED-TIME PROMOTIONS

==========

Some promotions are available only for a limited period.

A promotion may have:

- Start date

- End date

- Specific campaign hours

- Limited quantities

- Limited customer eligibility

Customers should not assume that a promotion will remain available

after the stated period.

==========

26. PROMOTION START DATE

A promotion should be considered active only after its applicable start time.

A customer attempting to use a promotion before it begins may not receive the promotional benefit.

==========

27. PROMOTION END DATE

==========

A promotion may stop applying after its expiration time or date.

Customers should review the promotion period before placing an order.

==========

28. EXPIRED PROMOTIONS

==========

An expired promotion is no longer available under its original terms.

An expired coupon should not be represented as valid.

Customers may need to wait for another eligible promotion or use another valid offer.

29. INVALID COUPONS

==========

A coupon may be invalid because:

- The code is incorrect
- The code has expired
- The campaign has ended
- The customer is not eligible
- The order does not meet the conditions
- The products are excluded
- The seller is excluded
- The coupon has already been used
- The coupon is restricted to another location
- Another applicable condition is not satisfied

30. COUPON ALREADY USED

==========

Some coupons may be limited to one use per customer.

If a customer has already used a one-time coupon, the same coupon may not be available for another qualifying order.

==========

31. COUPON NOT APPLICABLE

==========

A valid coupon may still be unavailable for a particular order.

For example:

- Product not eligible

- Seller not eligible

- Minimum order value not reached

- Payment method does not qualify

- Location does not qualify

- Customer does not qualify

A coupon being valid does not necessarily mean it applies to every order.

==========

32. MULTIPLE COUPONS

==========

Customers should not assume that multiple coupons can be used on the same order.

Coupon stacking depends on the applicable promotion terms.

If multiple promotions cannot be combined, the customer may need to choose one eligible offer.

==========

33. PROMOTION STACKING

==========

Promotion stacking means applying multiple promotional benefits to the same purchase.

Whether stacking is allowed depends on the specific promotion terms.

Some promotions may be combined while others may not.

==========

34. PROMOTION PRIORITY

==========

When more than one promotion is available, the applicable promotion rules determine which benefits can be applied.

Customers should review the final order amount before confirming the purchase.

The presence of multiple promotions does not guarantee that all discounts will be applied simultaneously.

35. DISCOUNT CALCULATION

A discount may be calculated based on the eligible portion of an order.

Depending on the promotion, the discount may apply to:

- One product

- Multiple products

- Selected categories

- Eligible sellers

- Eligible order subtotal

- Delivery charges

- Other specified amounts

Customers should review the promotion terms and final checkout amount.

==========

36. DISCOUNT AND DELIVERY FEES

==========

A product discount does not necessarily reduce delivery charges.

Delivery charges may remain applicable unless a separate delivery promotion applies.

Customers should review the final order total.

==========

37. DISCOUNT AND OTHER CHARGES

==========

Promotional discounts may apply only to specified portions of an order.

Other applicable charges may not be discounted unless the promotion specifically states otherwise.

==========

38. PROMOTION AND PRODUCT AVAILABILITY

==========

A promotion does not guarantee product availability.

A promotional product may become unavailable before the customer completes the order.

Customers should confirm availability before checkout.

==========

39. PROMOTION AND SELLER AVAILABILITY

==========

A seller may participate in some promotions but not others.

The eligibility of a product should be determined using the current promotion and seller information.

==========

40. PROMOTION AND PRODUCT VARIANTS

==========

A promotion may apply to some variants but not others.

For example:

- One color may qualify while another does not.
- One size may qualify while another does not.
- One model may qualify while another does not.

Customers should check the selected variant before ordering.

41. PROMOTION AND QUANTITY

==========

A promotion may have a minimum or maximum quantity.

Examples include:

- Minimum purchase quantity
- Maximum discounted quantity
- One promotional unit per customer
- Limited promotional inventory

Customers should review the applicable quantity conditions.

==========

42. PROMOTIONAL INVENTORY

==========

Some promotions may be limited by available promotional inventory.

A promotion may end earlier than expected if the promotional quantity has been exhausted, where the applicable terms permit this.

Customers should rely on current promotional information.

==========

43. PROMOTIONAL PRICE DISPLAY

==========

A promotional price may be displayed alongside an original, reference, or regular price.

Customers should review the current selling price and applicable promotion terms.

A displayed reference price should not automatically be interpreted as a guaranteed future or historical price.

==========

44. PROMOTION AT CHECKOUT

==========

Customers should review the checkout summary before confirming an order.

The checkout summary may show:

- Product prices
- Discounts
- Coupon benefit
- Delivery charges
- Other applicable charges
- Final amount

If an expected promotion does not appear, the customer should resolve the issue before completing the purchase where possible.

==========

45. COUPON APPLICATION

==========

Customers should verify that a coupon has been successfully applied before relying on the expected discount.

Entering a coupon code does not necessarily mean that the coupon has been accepted.

==========

46. COUPON APPLICATION FAILURE

==========

If a coupon does not apply, customers should check:

1. Code accuracy

2. Expiration date

3. Minimum order value

4. Eligible products

5. Eligible seller

6. Customer eligibility

7. Location eligibility

8. Payment-method requirements

9. Quantity requirements

10. Other applicable conditions

==========

47. PROMOTION NOT SHOWING

==========

If a customer expects a promotion but does not see it, possible reasons include:

- Product is not eligible
- Customer is not eligible
- Seller is not eligible
- Minimum order value is not met
- Location is not eligible
- Payment method does not qualify
- Promotion has limited inventory
- Other applicable condition

48. PROMOTION APPLIED INCORRECTLY

==========

If a customer believes a promotion was calculated incorrectly, the order and promotion terms should be reviewed.

The customer may provide:

- Order number

- Promotion or coupon code

- Product information

- Expected discount

- Actual discount

==========

49. PROMOTION AND ORDER CANCELLATION

==========

If a promotional order is cancelled, the promotional benefit may no longer be available.

The applicable refund amount depends on:

- Amount actually paid
- Promotion terms
- Cancellation reason
- Products involved
- Other applicable conditions

50. PROMOTION AND RETURNS

==========

Returning a product purchased with a promotion may affect the promotional benefit.

For example, a discount may have been based on purchasing multiple eligible products.

The applicable return and promotion terms determine the refund.

==========

51. PARTIAL RETURN OF PROMOTIONAL ORDER

==========

If a customer returns only part of an order that received a promotion, the discount may need to be recalculated according to the promotion terms.

The resulting refund may therefore differ from the original product price.

==========

52. BUNDLE RETURN

==========

A bundle promotion may require all qualifying products to remain part of the purchase.

If a customer returns one product from a qualifying bundle, the promotion may no longer apply in the same way.

The applicable promotion and return terms determine the result.

==========

53. FREE PRODUCT PROMOTION

==========

If a promotion provides a free or additional product, the customer must satisfy the promotion requirements.

If the qualifying purchase is cancelled or returned, the free-product benefit may also be affected.

==========

54. FREE DELIVERY AND RETURNS

==========

Free delivery provided through a promotion does not necessarily mean that return delivery or other return-related costs are also free.

Return conditions are governed by the applicable return policy.

==========

55. PROMOTIONAL REFUNDS

==========

A refund for a promotional order is generally based on the amount actually paid and the applicable refund and promotion conditions.

The original undiscounted price should not automatically be treated as the refundable amount.

==========

56. PROMOTION AND EXCHANGE

==========

An exchange involving a promotional product may depend on:

- Product availability
- Variant availability
- Promotion terms
- Price difference
- Return conditions

Customers should confirm the applicable exchange conditions.

==========

57. PROMOTIONAL ERRORS

==========

If a customer believes a promotion was advertised incorrectly or applied incorrectly, the matter should be reported for review.

Useful information may include:

- Promotion name

- Coupon code

- Product

- Seller

- Date

- Order number

- Screenshot where appropriate

- Description of the issue

==========

58. CUSTOMER-SPECIFIC PROMOTIONS

==========

Some promotions may be intended only for specific customers.

Eligibility may depend on:

- Account status

- Previous purchases

- First-order status

- Referral participation

- Other campaign requirements

Customers should not assume that a promotion available to another customer is available to them.

==========

59. PERSONALIZED PROMOTIONAL OFFERS

==========

A promotional offer may be presented to a particular customer under specific campaign conditions.

Such an offer should be used only according to the conditions shown with the offer.

Promotional communications may include:

- Sale announcements
- Coupon information
- Special offers
- Campaign announcements
- Free-delivery promotions
- New product promotions

Customers should review the terms of the specific promotion before using it.

==========

61. PROMOTION FRAUD AND MISUSE

==========

Customers should use promotions according to their stated terms.

Customers should not attempt to:

- Circumvent eligibility restrictions
- Misrepresent customer information
- Repeatedly exploit a one-time promotion
- Use unauthorized coupon codes
- Manipulate orders solely to obtain an improper promotional benefit

Promotional misuse may result in cancellation or other applicable action.

==========

62. COUPON SHARING

==========

Some coupons may be transferable while others may be restricted to a specific customer or account.

Customers should follow the applicable coupon terms.

A coupon should not be represented as transferable unless the promotion permits it.

==========

63. PROMOTIONAL CODE SECURITY

==========

Customers should protect promotional codes when the applicable promotion is account-specific.

Customers should avoid sharing account-specific promotional information with unauthorized persons.

==========

64. PROMOTIONS FROM THIRD PARTIES

==========

Customers may encounter promotional information outside Hulu Beje.

Customers should verify whether a promotion is officially applicable before relying on it.

==========

Promotion conditions may change according to the applicable campaign terms.

Customers should rely on the current promotion information available at the time of use.

==========

==========

72. FINAL PROMOTIONS AND COUPONS POLICY

==========

Hulu Beje promotions, discounts, coupons, and special offers are provided according to their individual terms and eligibility requirements.

A promotion may depend on the product, seller, customer, location, order value, payment method, quantity, campaign period, or other conditions.

Customers should review the applicable promotion information before placing an order and should confirm that the expected discount or benefit appears in the final order summary.

A coupon is not necessarily valid for every customer or every order. Coupons may expire, have usage limits, require minimum order values, apply only to selected products or sellers, or have other restrictions.

Multiple promotions or coupons cannot automatically be combined. Whether promotions can be stacked depends on the applicable terms.

Product discounts do not automatically remove delivery charges, and free-delivery benefits are subject to their own conditions.

Promotional benefits may also be affected by order cancellation, product returns, exchanges, quantity changes, or other order changes.

Customers should not rely on expired, unofficial, or unverified promotional information. Current promotion information should be used when determining whether an offer is available.

If a customer believes a promotion was not applied correctly, the customer should provide the relevant order, promotion, or coupon information so the matter can be reviewed.
